Dear Chair and Ranking Member:

As you consider the Fiscal Year 2020 defense authorization and appropriations bills, we strongly urge your continued support for the F-35 Lightning II program. As you well know, our adversaries continue to advance surface-to-air missile systems and develop their own stealth fighters. It is essential that we continue to increase production of our nation's only 5th generation stealth aircraft in order to ensure the United States maintains air dominance and to further reduce overall program costs.

The F-35 is the most advanced fighter in the world and is exceeding operational expectations. The F-35A reportedly logged a 28:1 lethality ratio at the Air Force's recent Red Flag exercise in Nevada, Marine F-35Bs just returned from their first successful combat deployment in South Central Asia and the Middle East, and the Navy just declared Initial Operational Capability (IOC) for the F-35C at the end of February. The three US Services and our allies are now flying more than 370 aircraft at 16 locations around the world. The program is at an important crossroads and warrants continued support.

In fact, as global threats continue to rise, the Department of Defense's (DoD) Fiscal Year 2020 budget request, which includes funding for 78 F-35s (48 F-35As, 10 F-35Bs and 20 F-35Cs) - 15 less than Congress appropriated in Fiscal Year 2019 - leaves the Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps with a capability gap that 4th Generation, or legacy, aircraft cannot fulfill. To reach the minimum 50% ratio of 5th Generation and 4th Generation fighters in the timeframe required to meet the threat, the U.S. must acquire F-35s in much larger quantities. Not only does the F-35 program deliver air superiority for the United States and its key allies, it also bolsters our domestic economy by supporting more than 1,400 suppliers and more than 220,000 direct and indirect jobs across the country.

Therefore, we are requesting your support for a total of 102 F-35 aircraft in the Fiscal Year 2020 defense authorization and appropriations bills, which is an increase of 24 aircraft over the President's budget request. It is vitally important for Congress to provide authorization and funding for 60 F-35As (+12), 22 F-35Bs (+12), and 20 F-35Cs in Fiscal Year 2020. This increase in procurement will restore previously-planned F-35 production rates negatively impacted by the sequestration era budget caps resulting from the Budget Control Act.

Additional funding is needed to address readiness, enhance aircraft availability, and most importantly accelerate compliance with the DoD 80% Mission Capable Mandate. Specifically, additional funding is needed for spare parts and depot level repair capability to meet the required availability rates and accelerate the stand-up repair process of mandated organic government repair capabilities.

We also urge you to fully fund the President's budget request for modernization efforts known as Continuous Capability Development and Delivery (C2D2). C2D2 is critical to meeting the evolving threat in the mid-2020s and into the 2030s. Full funding is needed for the delivery of new weapons and critical capabilities necessary to keep the F-35 ahead of our adversaries. F-35 modernization is crucial for 4th generation aircraft systems, which are increasingly vulnerable and reliant on 5th generation production.

The F-35 aircraft costs have come down more than 60 percent since the procurement of the first production aircraft more than 12 years ago and the Fiscal Year 2020 F-35As under consideration in this budget request will cost approximately $80 million per aircraft. To maintain these costs savings and to ensure future air dominance, it is critical that we increase F-35 production and provide the necessary program investments in the upcoming defense authorization and appropriations bills for Fiscal Year 2020.

Thank you for your continued support of the F-35 program and for your leadership.

Sincerely,

John B. Larson
